“ Brandon was a special buddy to me, when he was a boy I would ride him on a motorcycle and he couldn't get enough of riding with uncle Steve, also he went to church with me when God First touched my life, it was a time I cherish because Christ was brand new to me and Brandon shared those early days in my transformation ...
Later in his life as he became so sick, we prayed together and found Gods faithful mercy
In the hospital, I have much comfort knowing Brandon made it to heaven, the very same I want for all my family ... I know I will see you again Buddy, tell Jesus hi for me❤️

“ Delores, I'm so sorry. You are a dear and precious woman of God. You're Brandon has been so loved..his soul blessed and protected by you and the Lord. He is now with King Jesus, blessed, whole, full of joy and the light of God. I believe he is thinking of you with the most blessed and love-filled thoughts...how blessed he was on this earth to be YOUR son...to have YOU as his mother (warts and all, as they say :)). I can only imagine how heartbreaking his departure is, but the gain of heaven, the beauty of it all does not compare to anything on this earth. The very thought of the realness of heaven is flooding my soul as I sit here. How beautiful, how marvelous, how glorious! We know this. It comforts us as the tears come and the heart hurts. But the Lord is our comfort and our strength. The Body of Christ loves you....we love you....I love you. <3
