And a cure was not to be. So He put His arms loved her dearly, We could not make her stay.

A golden heart stopped beating, Hard working hands to rest. God broke our hearts to prove to us He only takes the best.'

“ Sweet Neicy! How do I "share A memory?" From your sweet sixteen party at my house, Eric putting rocks in your hub cap so we would come see him at work, to the blind date you set me up with, my first love, Mike. ZZ Top, Jackson Browne, (my mom let me call in work cuz it was you,) you gave me love for country music by making me watch the Patsy Cline movie in our little basement apartment when Brit was one and you and Les were just dating. I could go on and on, but, I just wanna thank you one more time for saving my life that night! (Thankfully) y'all got into a big ol fight and you came home. Thanks to you, I lived my life, I am able to love my grands, everything! You were the first person I searched on the internet, first link back here! I can just imagine the joy on your face when you met Jesus! Say hello to my people up there, and tell Ed I'm mad cuz he left me here!! Continue to share your love and light old friend!!

*“ I'm just having a hard time with the loss of you. I will forever cherish the talks, laughs, cries, and all other memories of you. Enjoy your wings, Denise. I'm sure they're beautiful.
To her kids and grands, know that you were her EVERYTHING! There wasn't a time that she didn't mention you when we talked. She loved you all more than you can possibly imagine. Know that I am praying for y'all, as well as keeping you in my thoughts, as I think of her, of course, I think of you.*

Thank you so much for your sweet words! She was without a doubt the best mama, mother-in-law (and best friend), and nana and we were just as obsessed with her as she was with us. Our lives will never be the same without her but we will always have her in our hearts and memories and will see her again one day!
