“ I first met Frank at Montevallo. Naomi, his girlfriend at the time, had the dorm room next to mine. I have never met a more cheerful, upbeat person. Years after graduation, I reconnected with him when we both worked for Mental Health. We were both of Irish extraction, loved to debate (another word for argue), and had many conversations about UFOs, BigFoot, the topic of the day, and politics. (I was a 'no' on Bigfoot, yes on UFOs and aliens.) He was always so cheerful and was one of the most original people I've ever met. I'm imagining Frank rehearsing for a play in Heaven right now and singing in the choir. He was one of the finest men I've ever known.

“ The first time I met Frank, he rode with me to buy a newspaper. It was raining. I told him that I would get out to buy the newspaper. He refused and told me that he was capable of doing it himself. Frank didn't let his handicap control him: he controlled his handicap. My hat is off to you, Frank. He was always willing to talk about Christ. He will never be forgotten.

“ My deepest sympathies to his family. Frank was one of my switchboard operators at Searcy Hospital, my Brother in Christ, and my Good Friend. I spent a lot of time with him before Covid hit and we had many wonderful conversations...about the Lord, Bigfoot, Aliens, and of course Ireland. I will think of him when I hear of these things. RIP my Friend.
