“ She was always such a sweet and happy lady. It has been a blessing to watch she and Mama at the Folsom Center continuing to share their love and have fun together.
Genora was an early riser and Mama a night owl lately. Genora would come down the hall to Mom's room and pinch her toes to wake her up so they could visit, which would make Mom fuss a bit. It was really cute to hear them talk about growing up together in the big family and all that their Mom and Dad would do for the kids. That house was bursting at the seams with love!
