“ Glenn was my younger brother. He was the happiest kid with the biggest smile growing up. How he could keep that smile after the death of his youngest daughter (after some time passed) always amazed me. After I moved to Tucson, Arizona, in 1971, we didn't get to see much of each other, but we stayed in touch by phone. I loved him very much and will always miss him, his smile, and his caring nature. My wife, once every few weeks, will still say that Glenn left us way too soon.

“ I will miss you forever. You have been my best friend, my confessor, and my soul mate since 1965. You will remain in my heart until my last breath and then I will meet you in heaven where we will have the time we prayed for. I love you sweetheart, now and forever.

“ I was so sad to see Glenn's picture in the Sioux City newspaper but to let all know that his smile has not change from grade school in Sioux Falls. We lived 2 blocks growing up in Sioux Falls and 2 blocks after a few years after moving to Sioux City. Glenn and I were in East High School together and after graduating went our separate ways. We had 'many' hours playing sports together, specially playing pool in each others basements. Glenn was truly a genuine person with a smile and laugh that that a person will always remember. Practice your pool my old friend, you'll need it when I see you later. Joel Wiegand
