“ One of the things when she was growing is she was such a little cuddle bug! I would rock her to sleep with her bottle and she would just melt into you, she was just such a great little snuggle baby! I loved rocking her to sleep at bedtime but the little stinker would wake up as soon as you stopped rocking her and laid her in the bed she would wake up and you would have just keep rocking to get her back to sleep. She was so small, I loved to rock her to sleep, that's the part I missed most with her, she was my very own little cuddle bug!!!
But all the kids were little cuddlier that DID NOT want to go to bed, they were afraid they would miss something if they were sleeping!!!
Sleep tight darling ❤️
