My dear son I love you always I think you're my angel now I pray for you every day. I miss you every day. I love you every day and always. It's so hard for me to live without you. It's almost impossible. I'll always be a mess for the rest of my days Till I die you meant so much to me. I think I'll always be messed up because of this because I don't really know what happened to you. I hope you're my guardian angel and when I die I hope you're the first face I see he was a good person. I know you so well better than anybody you were sweet you had a kind heart I know you went to heaven there's no way that someone like you that has a love for animals like you did you had empathy for people you were a very sweet soul and I will forever. Miss you lost my friend, my son and my baby I know you left me Love could have kept you alive you would be alive because you were so loved. I will see you again one day that's what God says. I think about you all the time all the fun we had and we did have some good time and some bad time but it's mostly good times, I was so proud of you mama loves you. Can't wait to see you again I wish I really knew what happened that's what's driving me crazy I don't know what happened. I know some of the things I believe that happened to you when they found you, that is wrong , I have tried to do something about it. I'm still gonna try I'm not gonna give up cause I know you wouldn't give up on me you missed in this world and you always will be. There's anyway you can give me a sign. I need you too baby. Love mama.
