“ Erin, May The Peace of The Lord be with you all during this time. Your mom was a one of a kind, unique individual! When you were little, it was always a good getting together with her and Lisa Leipert for all our children to have a “play date.” Those were some good times — Marilou helped me through some tough times when I was so ill with Crohn’s!

“ My most precious Marilou, I'm so conflicted. My heart is mangled and left in shreds over the loss of you. But at the same time? My Spirit is rejoicing. I know the time has come for you to reap the rewards that were promised you from your heavenly Father. Those promised you before the foundation of the world.

I've missed you for a long time. You're smile, the way you laugh but most of all, the way you loved people. You were EVERYBODY'S friend. You were called to be a healer, and still are. Because the gifts and callings of God are irrevocable. He may call us home and we cease to exist on this earth, but the gift he has given us? lives on. There are thousands of people that you have helped through your profession, but nothing compares to the people you have touched in your everyday life. You had a smile and a sincerity about you that could put a smile on somebody's face just by walking by them. You could brighten somebody's day with a simple nod. I miss your "Helleeerrr".

You may not be here in the flesh, but your gift? will forever remain upon the Earth.

The stories of your love and kindness that healed the broken hearted and calmed the storms in people's lives will be told to generations, for generations to come.

Which will continue to heal. Yes Marilou, you were called to be a healer and, although my opinion is nothing, I think you did a bang up job.

I wish I could be there among the other, one hundred thousand people that consider you a true gift from God.

It is an honor to have known you, and a privilege to have called you friend.

We've had April showers, and now, because of you? Our world will have the most beautiful May flowers.

I love you Lou and dearly miss you. Tell Jackie I said hello, and give her a hug for me.

Until we meet again,
ALL my love and appreciation
