“ Terry & Jackie lived next door our family when they lived in Wisconsin. We were young and found fun all the time which included mischievous things. One memory I still laugh about was when Terry, Jackie, my brother Joe & myself would climb the school by the water pipes to get basketballs, baseballs and other stuff we could find. The janitor knew we did this. We were told not to. Needless to say, we were at it again. Terry went up first, got to the top of the pole, slid down fast landing on his butt, HARD!!! We all laughed, Terry was embarrassed, yelled at Jackie but we all were laughing. The janitor had greased the top of the pole and it was "luck" that Terry went up first, lol!!! After the Johnson's moved, I visited twice in the 80s, the last time I saw Terry. My thoughts and prayers are with the family, especially to my BFF & special friend, Jackie ❤️
