“ Where do I start? The day I met Travis was the day I went to his home to do a "Meet and Greet" to be his nurse. I got hired on the spot.

I will never forget his huge smile, you know the one, and his bright eyes. I fell in love instantly! Listening to Travis and his father, Robert (Danny) Hessom, R.I.P, explain the journey they had been on with Travis's brain infection/injury was amazing and heart wrenching at the same time.

Travis was an amazing young man. His laugh was contagious, I can still hear it.

I met someone very important to me while caring for Travis. His step brother Tony, Anthony Reigle.

We eventually started dating and fell in love.

Travis would always remind us he was our match maker. Everyday for awhile.

Travis was strong, imaginative, loving, comical, caring, loyal, EXTREMELY honest and loved God deeply.

Sadly his father passed away and distance came between us and we lost contact with each other.

Thank you Trav for your presence in my life and the positive impact you had. You taught me a lot about myself and how to live life to the fullest.

I love you!!!
